Behind the news, Feb

FEBRUARY MEETING

It was a busy meeting and if you have not yet read the minutes, I urge you to do so. Meeting times, activity format and venues have all been updated.

The next meeting is the AGM and nominations close Monday 4 March at noon. A list of nominees will be forwarded to you.

Members, please make a special effort to attend this meeting. Afternoon tea will be provided.

ACTIVITIES

A letter of thanks for past support plus best wishes has been sent to Rachel Fenton and the staff of Rowers on the River, on your behalf.

Changes to venue will see us at the Bundaberg Services Club bistro for Anzac Girls Lunch. We will have tables to one side with members receiving a subsidy toward their lunch.

SUNNY COAST TRIP UPDATE

The other big change is our trip to Sunshine Coast—this will now be down and back the same day therefore more affordable and convenient to members who may otherwise not been able to attend.

There are a number of activities requiring either booking or expressions of interest. Please check the clipboards at the Lodge at the next opportunity. You can also book with payment to Sharon, a designated coordinator or through the secretary.

Check pages 6 and 7 and also 5 where there is an update for line dancing.

LINE DANCING FUNDING

I can also reveal that DVA Queensland is interested in our program of line dancing to the extent that it may attract a small grant that will assist with the cost of sessions and allow us to increase the number from 10 to maybe 18.

Line dancing interest relates back to 2023 Veterans Health Week which also received funding from DVA.

We were thankful for this assistance benefiting members and have fingers crossed that the 2024 grant will be approved.

2025 ADVENTURES

Annette Newsham and Gloria Kilpatrick have been investigating heaps of options for Norfolk Island and cruising. There will be sheets at the Lodge where you can take you pick and express your interest.

Please add your name to activity clipboards to assist planners.

COMMEMORATIONS

The big news—women veterans have been invited to lead the Bundaberg city Anzac Day parade and our president Jenny Waldron has been invited to be the Bundaberg city guest of honour for 2024. Jenny will take the salute beside the mayor.

It goes without saying that we hope many of you will turn up to shine and show Bundaberg what a proud bunch of good looking ladies we are!

Anzac Day timings will be in the March Chests Out.

As usual, there is a great need for volunteers at our War Nurses service from handling of wreaths, setting-up and dismantling through to welcoming guests and the general public. Please let Angella know where you can assist.

RSL SUB BRANCH

RSL secretary, Dannielle reminded us of the RSL AGM 10 March and also asked if any members may be interested in dusting/upkeep of memorabilia displayed in the club.

Contact Dannie 4910 9596.

Our thanks to the RSL Sub Branch for assistance with printing the annual report.

WELLBEING

Covid is everywhere and you don't need to go cruising or by train to catch it—it is on the hand rail, the chair, the shopping trolley and items on the shelf. It is in the air.

Keep your hands clean, cover your cough. We all know the drill.

WELLBEING SUPPORT OFFICERS

Assistance with staying in contact with members is a way in which we all can help improve our wellbeing program. If you think you may be able to participate, please contact me. All work is voluntary without pressure—but anything you do could make a big difference to a member.

GET WELL

To our members suffering with any ailment—follow advice and get well soon. Best wishes.

Take care.

Meritorious recognition for veterans who served in Somalia

ADF personnel who served in Somalia in the 1990s performed extraordinary work in very challenging conditions. This service represented the ADF's largest land and sea operation since Australia's involvement in the Vietnam War.

Australian Service Contingents (ASC) I-IV, 1 RAR Battalion Group and HMAS Tobruk have been awarded the Meritorious Unit Citation for service during Operation IGUANA and Operation SOLACE, between the dates 17 October 1992 and 23 November 1994.

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL CALLS FOR VOLUNTEERS TO TRANSCRIBE LOVE LETTERS AND DIARIES

[EXTRACT] Among the documents including letters and diaries, released digitally today for the project, is a love letter written by an Australian soldier only hours before he died at the landing in Gallipoli.

The scrawl is elegant, the contents reverent and loving.

Ms Simmonds said with more than 6,000 pages to be transcribed it might be a project for the whole family to get involved with.

"The writing styles vary quite a lot, even the handwriting that is quite precise because it's a lost skill, certainly with my generation, and being able to recognise that. It can be hard to read," she said.

"That poses a challenge, so that's why we want to tap into a wide range of audiences, so those older people at home that can interpret that, we want to encourage them to help.

" Volunteer transcribers can register their interest in joining the project at the Australian War Memorial's website. awm.gov.au

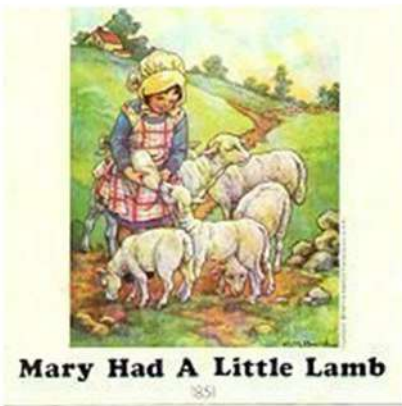

[there is a tool to allow the transcription to be done online]

NURSERY RHYME updated

*Mary had a little lamb.
Her father shot it dead.
Now it goes to school with her,
Between two chunks of bread.*

I remember an old car I used to own. You know the kind, ratty and raggedy, driven when I was a poor uni student. I was having trouble with something I couldn't readily identify myself, so I took it into the shop. The mechanic looked at it a couple of minutes and said, "What you really need is the radiator cap solution."

"Oh," I said, trying not to sound too confused. "Do you mean the radiator cap isn't holding enough pressure?"

That's part of the problem" he said. "What you really need to do is lift the radiator cap and drive another car under it. Then the next day you can replace the radiator cap, and it should solve your problem."

The young woman really thought she'd been very patient through a protracted period of dating with no talk of marriage.

One night her steady boyfriend took her to a Chinese restaurant. As he perused the menu, he casually asked her, So, how do you like your rice? >Boiled? Or fried?"

Without missing a beat, she looked over her menu at him and replied clearly, "Thrown."

Two boy scouts went on a nature hike in the hills picking hickory nuts. Along the way, they filled their small pails and then started to fill their pockets and shirts.

When they could hold no more nuts, they started down the country road until they came across a cemetery. The boys decided that would be a good place to stop and rest and divide out the nuts.

The two boys sat in the shade of a large oak tree and unloaded their pockets and buckets by dumping all of the nuts in a large pile. In the process, two of them rolled away and rested near the road. The boys then proceeded to divide out the nuts. "One for you. One for me. One for you. One for me."

As they were doing this, another boy was passing by and happened to hear them. He looked into the cemetery, but could not see the boys, because they were obscured by the tree. He hesitated a moment and then ran back to town.

"Father! Father!" he yelled as he entered his house. "The cemetery. Come quick!"

"What's the matter?" his father asked.

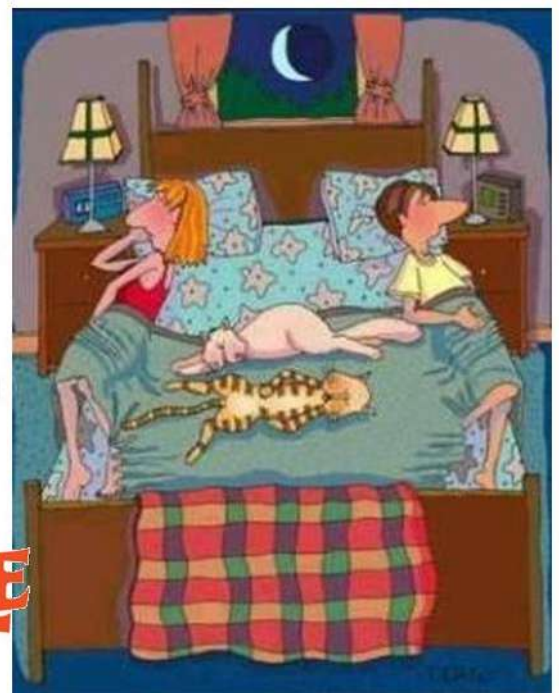

"No time to explain," the boy frantically panted. "Follow me!"

The boy and his father ran up the country road and stopped when they reached the cemetery. They stopped at the side of the road and all fell silent for a few moments. Then the father asked his son what was wrong.

"Do you hear that?" he whispered. Both people listened intently and heard the Scouts. "One for me. One for you. One for me. One for you..."

The boy then blurted out, "The devil and the Lord are dividing the souls!"

The father was skeptical but silent -- until a few moments later as the Scouts completed dividing out the nuts and one Scout said to the other, "Now, as soon as we get those two nuts down by the road, we'll have them all."
